

Meet the GRADUATES

Kaylee Butcher, above, left, and Makayla Montes, right, celebrate their graduation at Beaver Island State Park. Butcher and friends headed for the beach after the ceremony. At left, class valedictorian Lucas Kruse took a selfie from the stage during his speech, capturing an image of 200 cars behind him in the Beaver Island State Park lot, each containing fellow graduates ready for a drive-by graduation ceremony.

Class President Sean Christian Rustowicz concludes the commencement ceremony leading his classmates with the traditional turning of the tassels.

Congratulations CLASS OF 2020!

The drive-by graduation in the park offered graduates like Brooke Amato, above, a chance to get their diploma in a decorated vehicle.

Eric Banks, above, and Tala Abdellatif, below, smile after receiving their diplomas.

Warren Richard holds the hand of his grandson, Ben Richard, at graduation shortly before both received diplomas. Warren didn't graduate from high school because he was serving in the Army in World War II. He was awarded a Grand Island High School diploma in November at the school's annual Veterans Parade. His grandson, who was injured in a car accident earlier in the school year, received his diploma as well. (Photo by Larry Austin)

Allison Fay, below, is photographed by camera artist Aaron Bobeck. At left, the Hutton family capture images of Kira Hutton's walk across the stage after accepting her diploma. (Photo by Larry Austin)

Michael DeLano waves to friends as he walks across the stage after receiving his diploma.

