

LOCAL RESTAURANTS & SHOPS OPEN FOR BUSINESS

'It's good to be back'

Local businesses welcomed customers back into their stores on Tuesday, as Western New York entered phase two of Gov. Andrew Cuomo's "New York Forward" plan.

Several doors were open in Lewiston and Youngstown. Niagara River Region Chamber of Commerce President Jennifer Pauly said, "We have anxiously awaited phase one and phase two - and continue to do so for three and four. Every step of the way, our chamber staff and board has worked hard to provide as many resources as we could to help our businesses through this time. Phase two opening felt like a huge step towards hope for our business community. We do know that this summer isn't going to look like the one we were planning for, but we are proud of the resiliency of our members and how they are taking this in stride and making the best out of it."

"Please support our small businesses - retail, service-based, restaurants, attractions and nonprofits in any way you can!"
