'Deposits for Food' reaches $100,000 in giving to area food pantries

Community Missions and Heart, Love & Soul have received thousands in donations

In August 2013, Lewiston resident Angelo Sarkees put into action an idea he had for some time. A recent retiree, Sarkees began collecting bottles and cans at the Lewiston Jazz Festival, with the idea of turning them in to raise funds for local Niagara County food pantries. So began his "Deposits 4 Food" initiative.

Nearly nine years later, Sarkees presented checks to Community Missions and Heart, Love & Soul, bringing his total donations to more than $100,000. The donations were made in honor of Earth Day, in recognition of his efforts to keep these items out of landfills or in the environment.

"It breaks down to $45,000 that I've given each to Community Missions and Heart, Love & Soul, and $5,000 each to the Wilson Community Food Pantry and Care-N-Share Pantry in Ransomville," Sarkees said.

This latest milestone comes after Sarkees collected his one millionth container back in fall 2021.

The initiative has also grown to include scrap metal donated by many local businesses.

"Thank you to all who donate to the project, including the households that give their containers and the businesses who donate scrap metal," Sarkees said. "Special thanks to Doug Adamson and his staff at the Porter Empty Return Center in Ransomville for their invaluable assistance in processing the containers. And as always, thanks to the staff of Community Missions, Heart, Love & Soul, Wilson Community Food Pantry, and Care-N-Share Pantry for their work in the community."

SBA recognizes Dana Burgio's Salon LaModa as Outstanding Women-Owned Business

The Small Business Administration presented its Buffalo District Outstanding Women-Owned Small Business Person of the Year Award to Dana Burgio, owner-operator of Salon LaModa, located at 2180 Niagara Falls Blvd., Town of Tonawanda.

SBA District Director Franklin Sciortino said the award is "an excellent example of how small business helped us respond to the employment and business crisis brought on by the pandemic." He cited Burgio's 25-year anniversary at Salon LaModa as a model for women succeeding in business.

The SBA Buffalo District embraces 14 counties from Buffalo to Rochester. Sciortino said the award recognizes "outstanding entrepreneurial achievements and contributions to our economy by creating 21st century jobs, driving innovation and increasing America's global competitiveness."

Among the distinctive features of Salon LaModa has been its service to clients from throughout the region; its outreach to persons fighting cancer, alopecia and other challenges; and its growth and expansion. Burgio and her staff are also internationally recognized experts in the most current hair extensions.
