New Yorkers choosing to vacation in state will make a difference in 2021

In a statewide collaboration coordinated by the New York State Tourism Industry Association, New York state residents are being asked to "Roam the Empire" in 2021.

Destination marketing organizations, museums, attractions and other tourism-related businesses are rallying New Yorkers to "Roam the Empire" and choose their home state when making their 2021 travel and vacation plans. Organizers of the "Roam the Empire" initiative point to the benefits that will result if New Yorkers choose to explore the Empire State and vacation in-state in 2021.

"In any given year, New York state's diverse destinations and attractions provide great reasons for our fellow New Yorkers to plan their getaways within our borders," said Bob Provost, president of the New York State Tourism Industry Association. "But this year is different. This year, New Yorkers choosing to vacation in New York will make a huge impact. They will help reemploy over 300,000 of their fellow New Yorkers who lost tourism-related jobs during the pandemic in 2020. They will help revitalize local businesses and communities. And they will restore sorely needed state and local tax revenue to help fund our state's economic recovery."

Destination Niagara USA President and CEO John Percy said, "Together, we're encouraging New Yorkers to safely and proudly 'Roam the Empire,' and choose to explore all New York state has to offer. With plenty of family-friendly experiences as well as outdoor adventures, it's an opportunity to have a great summer vacation or weekend escape, while supporting local communities and fellow New Yorkers."

In a difficult year for New York's tourism industry, the "Roam the Empire" campaign was developed pro bono by marketing firm MOWER and is being launched organically with no budget nor
